RE: Information Letter for Inmate Massey, Barry DOC # 942583

I have been assigned to the Washington State Reformatory since 1999, for the past six years I have come in contact with Inmate Massey, Barry on numerous occasions under different circumstances. At present he is assigned to the field house (gym). At present he is the gym weight room porter and the cardio fitness class instructor.

Inmate Massey has conducted himself in an exemplary manner, following directions, rules and regulations established by the department and the institution without hesitation. Inmate Massey is dependable, coming in on days off or when called upon when needed without any questions or hesitation. I have never had to repeat an order given to inmate Massey nor infract or give him a warning. Inmate Massey is respectful and polite without being overbearing to staff, visitors and other offenders.

I have observed Inmate Massey's instructional qualities and dedication transformed the cardio class into a huge success. The population's demographics at WSR have changed over the years as has the dynamics of inmate prison life. More and more young inmates are coming into the system from all ethnic backgrounds. After a few weeks a number of these new inmates seek inmate Massey for advice in cardio exercise, weight lifting and proper diet in order to address numerous issues such as reducing weight getting physical fit and general wellness.

In closing Inmate Massey has conducted himself in an exemplary positive role model to achieved healthy living in prison through exercise and proper diet.
